Council approves first reading of employees' pension increase

Increase is first in a decade

By Teresa Sargeant Reporter

The Apopka City Council on Wednesday approved the first reading of an amendment to the general employees' retirement system, which would increase the retirement benefit multiplier from the current 2.75% to 3%.

Mayor Bryan Nelson 12 years, said the time has recused himself from the vote because he was "a part of this," he said. The final vote was 4–0.

General employees will see their contribution rates rise from the current 4.9% to 5.5% of their salary, said Frank Mega of HY Consulting, the city pension plan administrator for general employees, police and fire.

John Hanson, a city building official who sat on the Pension Plan Board for come for employees to receive a raise in their pension plan. He said general employees never had a pension plan increase, but police and fire did.

"I think there's a heck of a deal for the employees. I mean, we've been wanting this since the last administration," Hanson said. "It's been a long time... Let's get it done."

The boost in pension pay is the result of a yearlong initiative driven by the employees themselves, Mega said. The Pension Board conducted a benefit impact study, which included many options, their costs, and the cost to the city. The Pension Board recommended a few options for presentation to the membership, then to the City Council.

An online vote was held among the approximately 260 active general employees, but only 187 par-

Wekiva High receives pivotal community school designation

UCF awards approximately $7M to OCPS for holistic neighborhood wellness

By Sarah Merly Reporter

Wekiva High School has received the universityassisted community school (UACS) designation, unlocking millions in funding to transform the campus into a hub for a variety of student services.

The Full-Service Community Schools Program federal grant awarded UCF $50 million toward its Unlimited Potential Initiative (UPI) grant. UCF then awarded approximately $7 million to community schools within

So what is a community

"This community school model is more like a strategy that helps boost academic success and strengthen our communities by making that connection so that the schools can be a hub for health and social services, youth programs, family engagement, academics — all those things that kind of focus on the whole child," said Alina Davis, UPI community schools senior ad-

For the first phase of transformation, community school director Johnny Outing aims to officially open the Mustang Market — a food pantry — and a clothing outlet for families in need around the end of the school year. Wekiva is also renovating a space to reopen as a multi-purpose family resource center.

"That will be utilized for organizations who come in and want to teach things like Outing said. "We'll also use that space for a Zen room for emotional health support, where they can come in and they can talk to a therapist, talk to a counselor."

HOA weighs legal action over fiber installation damage

Metronet says it is addressing issues

By Teresa Sargeant Reporter

In late October, Timothy Ondrey saw small flags planted in the easements around Rock Springs Ridge, first outside the subdivision on Rock Springs Road and then moving their way into the community. Eventually, they reached Ondrey's neighborhood.

Ondrey, who lives on Rock Hill Loop, is one of several Apopka homeowners who say they've sustained property damage to their easements because of a fiber network installation by Metronet, prompting the homeowners association (HOA) to retain a lawyer in preparation for potential legal action.

Although Rock Springs Ridge is within city limits, Orange County is overseeing the rollout.

Ondrey described a "good amount" of his neighborhood as being impacted by the installation, with the most significant damage occurring to his easement.

"The grass was torn up and then, I'll say, hastily put back down, or it wasn't remediated the same day that the work was done,"

Orange County weighing sales tax ballot initiative

Orange County Mayor Jerry Demings recently invited mayors and city managers to a meeting to discuss the possibility of putting a sales tax initiative on the ballot in November 2026.

Orange County hired GreatBlue Research to understand residents' priorities for transportation and broader infrastructure investments. The last initiative, which failed in 2022, did not include a broader infrastructure investment component that would have aligned it more with the sales tax Seminole County enacted years ago.

GreatBlue looked at quality of life, transportation behaviors, roadways, bus and rail systems, stormwater management, natural resources, infrastructure priorities and trust and communication.

They had over 1,000 completed questionnaires from residents answering questions about quality of life. According to the survey, over 82% of residents feel positive about life in Orange County; 56.4% say it's easy to maintain a standard of living; and 75.7% of residents trust Orange County to manage funds responsibly.

Roadway maintenance is viewed favorably by 78.9% of residents, although 56.8% believe road maintenance could be improved, and 48.7%

Apopka Mayor

believe intersection improvements are needed. As to bus service, 27.7% of residents want long travel times to be reduced. Almost 80% of residents want expanded SunRail service to the airport and key employment centers.

Flood and stormwater are important to almost 90% of residents, and 76% of residents feel confident that the county can handle flood related events. Improving drainage in older neighborhoods is a top priority of 67.4% of respondents, and flood vulnerability upgrades are next at 50%.

Protecting and preserving natural lands was important to an overwhelming 92.9% of residents. Parks, trails, and greenspace are just as important to the county's residents.

Road maintenance was the top overall priority for 1/3 of residents, followed by 22.3% for intersection improvements, and stormwater upgrades in older neighborhoods was the top priority for 18.7% of respondents.

The County Commission has a fairly short timeframe to have the sales tax initiative on the ballot for November 2026. If the initiative is to be on the ballot, the County Commission will need to begin the process soon after the first of the year.

The entire 27-page Orange County PowerPoint should be available for more details about the study.

Infrastructure needs bust county budget

Orange County government maintains over 3,000 miles of roadway, enough to take a trip to California. Imagine being responsible to resurface at a cost of $250,000 per lane mile all this county infrastructure.

Resurfacing, with only two-lane roads, while many roadways are four and five lanes, requires $1.5 billion every 12–15 years. The county public works budget is only $250 million annually. Thus, the county is behind by over $5 billion.

Recently, the county resurfaced West Ponkan Road from US441 to Plymouth Sorrento Road with the price tag of $2 million. A wise CFO, Randy Singh, told me upon my election to the County Commission in 2019 that the public works budget must allocate sufficient funds to maintain roadways before contemplating any additional capacity. It costs around $5.5 million per lane mile to expand roadways.

Last summer, the commission hired Urban 3 to help develop a financial tool for evaluating the feasibility of new suburban neighborhoods. While developers, and of course homebuyers, pay for the initial road infrastructure,

County Commissioner
District 2

Christine Moore

the long-term maintenance falls to county government and taxpayers.

As a side note, most of you desire a developer to pay for upgrading non-subdivision or county or city roadways. However, the Florida Legislature does not allow developers to be forced to expand roadway capacity. That is why you see roadways and sidewalks improved only on portions abutting a new subdivision.

You can quickly see from this information that widening or increasing capacity on Ponkan, Plymouth Sorrento, Kelly Park, Sadler, and Round Lake roads is so challenging. Between the Legislature's prohibition on requiring the developers to add the extra capacity, counties and cities often get beat up unfairly.

At the root of our challenge in Northwest Orange County was the extension of SR429 or beltway around Orlando. I believe the Legislature should have required the toll agencies to fund additional improvements directly around these new interchanges. Central Florida Expressway Authority brings in $800 million annually — this is four times what the county is currently able to budget.

Also, if you recall, our leaders back in the early 2000s negotiated the Wekiva Parkway deal to have limited access. The city of Apopka rezoned the entire area, creating a "new urban" city at the interchange. However, no infrastructure funding was provided for Kelly Park or Plymouth Sorrento roadway expansions. The intent was for the increased tax revenue to provide needed infrastructure funding.

You know the problem here. The impact fees and taxes do not make it to county or city coffers until a Certificate of Occupancy is issued. Herein lies the answer to the gentleman who comes to complain at almost every council meeting about why infrastructure lags new development.

Editor's note: This is the first in a two-part series.

'The Amazing Shake' teaches valuable life skills

I recently had the opportunity to participate in "The Amazing Shake" competition at Dream Lake Elementary School as a judge. This is the second time I have been able to take part in this tremendous event, and once again, I was not disappointed.

The Amazing Shake is an annual contest that was developed by the well-respected Ron Clark Academy in Atlanta. The competition emphasizes teaching students manners, discipline, respect, and how to conduct themselves in a professional environment.

Essentially, these young students learn how to "work a room" almost as well as a young adult twice their age. Local schools around the country that want to participate and send a team to compete in Atlanta, hold smaller competitions at their home school to find their top students. That is what we did at Dream Lake.

The event started with all the competitors networking in a room with community members and local leaders. Here they were rated on how they introduced themselves, how well they made eye contact or shook a hand and how well they engaged in two-way communication.

Orange County School Board, District 7

Then the students visited the media center, which was transformed into a circus theme, where they had to complete challenges at each station with a guest judge. The stations were meant to challenge their quick thinking, communication skills and problem-solving.

Every student walked up to me and introduced themselves with a handshake and asked how I was doing or thanked me for being there. The students had to do things like calm an angry customer or introduce performers as a ring master.

Each challenge was met with a young student who was engaged, poised and mature. To say that all the adults in the room were impressed is an understatement. As one judge commented, these kids are heads and tails ahead of the game of life, learning these important skills this young.

The winning team at Dream Lake has been chosen, and I am happy to be able to sponsor part of their trip to Atlanta as they head to The Amazing Shake competition in March. I'm so excited that they are prepared for this opportunity and are set up for success in the future thanks to the incredible program. Another great opportunity for our students provided by our local public schools.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

In this world of chaos and untamed rhetoric over political differences, I want to claim a timeout and share an uplifting episode that makes me so proud to be a part of the American culture.

I am relegated to a power wheelchair, and it becomes a chore sometimes to do my grocery shopping. I was in Winn-Dixie two days before Thanksgiving and, as expected, it was full-up of people shopping for items needed for their Thanksgiving meals.

I dragged that little basket (I could not find one of the small buggies) through the aisles as carefully as possible for fear I would mortally wound someone by striking them. As I endeavored to reach different products, I found I was a little short in one end. The number of people who took time out of their busyness to come to my rescue was absolutely mind boggling! I was so grateful for the kindness, consideration, and assistance I received.

When I finished my shopping and approached the cashier, I found it impossible to retrieve the groceries out of the basket (short in the other end), but kindness again raised its beautiful head and the lovely lady behind me lifted my items to the cashier's counter.

She noticed my cap and asked if I was a veteran. After acknowledging I was, she thanked me for my service, and I started the process of checking out. But when I tried entering my card, the cashier and the bagger told me it was already paid for. I was amazed!

No one would let me in on who had paid, so I left Winn-Dixie rejoicing in the fact that our nation, the United States of America, is still full of people of unbelievable grace and love for their fellow countrymen and women. To whomsoever you are, THANK YOU and GOD bless you for your concern for others (and my groceries too)!

Moore officially secures number of petitions to run for mayor

She is the first candidate to complete this process

By Teresa Sargeant Reporter

Christine Moore has officially secured the necessary number of petitions to run for mayor of Apopka, her campaign announced Nov. 26.

She is the first mayoral candidate to successfully complete this process, gathering the required certified signatures from at least 1% of registered voters from the latest election, according to a statement released by Qualifying by petition reflects our commitment to a community-driven campaign from day one."

The Moore campaign is now pivoting its efforts to connect with Apopka residents, concentrating on community gatherings, local engagement and continuous dialogue.

Her platform includes breathing new life into downtown Apopka, managing residential expansion, upgrading crucial public works, expandlands, and fostering a more respectful atmosphere during council sessions and on digital platforms.

"What the city of Apopka needs most now is the ability to have trust and confidence in city government," Moore said in an interview. "I'm a straight shooter, and they can always count on me including them, letting them know what's going on. This town has to work for everyone. ## Seminole County Chamber announces new Apopka council

By Sarah Merly Reporter

The Seminole County Chamber announced its new Apopka area council, the West Seminole Council, in a Nov. 24 press release.

"We've had a lot of businesses from the Apopka area over the past year looking for just another way for them to connect with more businesses and community leaders," Rebekah Arthur, Seminole County Chamber president and CEO, said in an interview.

The new council will serve the Semoran Boulevard corridor, from downtown Apopka to the State Road 434/436 intersection. According to the Seminole County Chamber, more than 20,000 people and 1,600 businesses reside between those two local landmarks.

Seminole County Chamber, five-star accredited chamber and current Florida Chamber of the Year, has seven other councils throughout the county, with the common goal of uniting local business leaders. The West Seminole Council will meet on the first Monday of every month for lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Bahia Shrine, located at 3101 E. Semoran Boulevard. Its first meeting is currently set for Feb. 2, 2026, with Seminole

"One thing as business owners we sometimes forget to do is our continuing education," Collette Rance, West Seminole Council chair and A-HA! Insurance president, said in an interview. "Unless there's some sort of industry requirement, people don't do it. They just kind of plod along and do what they know. So it's good, I think, from an educational standpoint, but [also] from a business standpoint, to do this sort of format."

Rance said her current job is to teach seniors about Medicare, but one of her most significant ties to Apopka started when she was a schoolteacher.

"I'm an old teacher — I spent 22 years teaching," Rance said. "My first gig after my master's degree was [at] Apopka Middle School, and I spent a lot of years there. And then I moved to Piedmont, so I have a lot of ties to Apopka, actually going back to the '70s, when I was just a kid."

Rance is hoping for at least 50 attendees at the initial meeting. On Jan. 14, 2026, she and her team will share more about the council with local businesses during a "handshake day."

"What we hope to do is just get folks to come and see the sort of synergy that happens in a room when a Seminole County Chamber [meeting] happens it's interesting," Rance said.

JERSEY MIKE'S

Rock Springs Road.

Founded in 1956, Jersey Mike's has 3,225 locations across the country, according to the chain's website. The new location's paper menu lists 18 sandwich varieties, including the Club Supreme — Johnson and Cayo's favorite — and Fischer's favorite, The Original Italian.

"It's a nice, great product," said Johnson, who's worked at Jersey Mike's for around four years. "We come in [at] seven o'clock in the morning, put [out] fresh bread, lettuce, tomato and onions every day."

To celebrate the location's opening, Jersey Mike's gave away coupons for a free regular sub sandwich for a minimum donation of $3 to the Children's Tumor Foundation, which combats neurofibromatosis (NF). The new location will accept the coupons through Sunday.

"NF refers to a group of genetic conditions that cause tumors to grow on nerves throughout the body," the Children's Tumor Foundation website says. "NF affects 4 million people worldwide. Anyone can be born with NF, and it impacts everyone differently."

For Fischer, the cause is personal.

"I have a close friend and coworker that — their son has been dealing with it [NF] since he was born and has... carved out a nice life for himself with the support of the Children's Tumor Foundation," Fischer said.

That friend is Mark Ehrli, who visited the new Jersey Mike's location approximately 20 minutes after it opened. He's known Fischer for 30 years and has supported the Children's Tumor Foundation ever since his son, Joe, received his NF diagnosis in California in 1993.

"He's had surgeries, but he's an Eagle Scout — proud UCF graduate — and he's really persevered through a lot of difficult circumstances," Ehrli said.

Johnson has also known Fischer for a few decades and credits Fischer for his start at Jersey Mike's around four years ago. He believes the relationships built between guests and team members, like that between Ehrli and Fischer, are what set his career from Jersey Mike's apart from previous jobs.

"You see a lot of the same people like four or five times a week," Johnson said. "We stay professional in our execution, in the product and the way we put it out, but the conversation and the banter and the relationships you create with those people you see every day is priceless."

INSTALLATION DAMAGE

FROM A1

Ondrey said.

He said he filed multiple complaints with Metronet via two tickets and several phone calls. Although a crew eventually returned for cleanup, the restoration was poor, according to Ondrey. He said new sod patches had visible gaps, and some sections of grass were left dead.

"I'm responsible for maintaining the property, and I understand what an easement is, but it's going to be the HOA and the city who are going to come to me and say, 'Hey, your property is not being maintained," Ondrey said

Ondrey said he wished the community had been notified in advance before installation began.

"[The crew lead] told me that [they] should have gotten door hangers in advance, letting us know that Metronet was in the area, that they were going to be doing fiber installation, and pretty much everything that we should expect,"

Patches of dirt were left behind after Metronet contractors finished installation.

Ondrey said. He said he did not receive any such communication and saw social media chatter that he was not the only one.

According to Scott Shapiro, a spokesman for Metronet, Ondrey is currently the only Rock Springs Ridge resident who has filed a complaint to Metronet. He said the company was sending a crew to Rock Springs Ridge on Wednesday to inspect any damage on the grounds.

"We respond to restoration issues within 24 hours. In Mr. Ondrey's case, we actually responded within one hour," Metronet said in a statement to The Apopka Chief. "Our goal is always to restore property as we found it, and we are happy to work with him on that."

The city also has not received complaints from Rock Springs Ridge residents about Metronet, according to Sgt. Jennifer Rudich, the Apopka Police Department's public information officer. She added that if residents do need to file a complaint, they would have to do so with Orange County.

Simon McKenna, Rock Springs Ridge HOA president, said Ondrey is not alone in his concerns and cited damage to the community's common areas. He said the issue involves a significant lack of care from multiple contractors and subcontractors working on installations for providers, including Metronet and T-Mobile.

"We've had issues with a number of about four different contractors," McKenna said in a Tuesday phone interview. "We've actually used our attorney to file to tell them that we're going to seek restitution for damages because they damage portions of our irrigation."

McKenna said all of Rock Springs Ridge — a community of more than 1,300 homes — has been affected, but the HOA's immediate focus is on the common areas, particularly Rock Ridge Boulevard.

The primary cause of the damage stems from heavy construction vehicles pulling off the road onto grassy areas where shallow irrigation systems and water lines are located, according to McKenna.

"You pull a 10,000-pound truck to park it on grass on top of irrigation systems that are within a foot or two of the surface, you're going to damage stuff," McKenna said, noting the damage includes broken water lines and irrigation leaks. He estimates the cost of repairs is "already into thousands of dollars of repairs."

The HOA wants full compensation for all repair costs. Calculating a final number is difficult because contractors "just keep coming out and working at other sections and doing damage again."

In its statement to the Chief, Metronet said the HOA has not contacted the company.

According to Ondrey, the city of Apopka is aware of Rock Springs Ridge's situation with Metronet. He filed a complaint to the city through the SeeClickFix app but didn't file a complaint with Orange County.

McKenna said the city "actually came down the first day and shut them down." However, he said the contractors were back to work within hours

Despite filing a complaint to the Federal Communications Commission, Ondrey remains skeptical of a satisfactory resolution.

He urged other Apopka residents who will soon face similar installations to take precautions: document everything with photos before and after the work, request clear communication regarding the timeline and impact, and contact the provider immediately when issues occur.

"I feel this is an issue the public deserves to be aware of," he said.

Metronet said major infrastructure improvements always include challenges.

"These projects are unexpected and can be jarring, so we appreciate everyone's patience," Metronet said in its statement.

Council denies land use change for M A Board Street townhomes

Opponents say new units out of place

By Teresa Sargeant Reporter

Apopka Council voted 4-1 to deny a future land use amendment for a proposed development of three townhomes at 155 M A Board Street, ultimately supporting residents' concerns that the townhomes would be a detriment to the surrounding community.

Commissioner Nick Nesta cast the sole vote in favor of the application, which, had it passed, would have changed the future land use designation for the 2.7-acre vacant property from Residential Medium to Mixed Use.

Such a change would have permitted the owner, Magic Houses LLC, to build the three townhomes, increasing the permitted density from 10 to 15 units

Amr Gawad, representing the developer, defended the proposal by stating that the application aligned with the city's comprehensive plan. He referred to the city's 2004 joint planning agreement with Orange County, which focused on revitalizing downtown.

Gawad argued that the new townhomes would increase the city's tax base and help renew Apopka's downtown area.

Commissioner dia Anderson opposed the project, stating that based on communications from several residents, the community was against the project because it didn't align with the area, which is comprised of single-family homes, and would likely decrease property values.

"Ideally, our job is to make sure that we are protecting the community protecting the values in that community - and throwing in three townhomes is not in the best interest of the community," she said.

During public comment, resident Francina Boykin highlighted this opposition. She called the townhome development a potential "eyesore" that would also create "traffic clutter" due to the anticipated number of vehicles per unit.

"This is not small scale," she said. "It is the beginning of gentrification of a very quaint, historical community."

Boykin added that if Mildred A. Board lifelong resident, educator and community advocate for whom the street is named — were alive today, she would object to the townhomes.

Gawad told the council that a community meeting for the townhome development, mandatory as part of the application process, "was attended, [and] it was very positive."

However, Commissioner Alexander H. Smith countered this, noting that according to the meeting summary he read, only one person attended.

"I brought it up because when you were asked 'was community meeting held,' you said 'yes, and everybody was pleased," Smith told Gawad. "So, it made it appear that there was a group of people there, when it was actually only one person there."

Gawad maintained that the low attendance did not negate the fact that the development team had properly advertised the meeting.

EATONVILLE

FROM A1

"The City of Apopka will help Eatonville address the recent findings of the Auditor General regarding Eatonville's debt covenant compliance, financial reporting, and CRA budget administration matters," an Apopka press release said. "The City's Finance Department staff will assist Eatonville's staff in an effort to meet compliance requirements mandated by the State."

According to the release, the auditor general is legally required to audit entities such as school boards and state universities, but the office also audits counties, municipalities and special districts upon request from the Florida Legislature's Joint Legislative Auditing Committee.

Eatonville's annual financial report for the fiscal year that ended on Sep. 30, 2024, said in its schedule of findings that many transactions were recorded improperly, that Eatonville had not met its "pledged revenue coverage covenant required by its [State Revolving Fund] loan agreements" and that some deposits were made to incorrect bank accounts, which were unreconciled.

"The Town's financial statements were materially misstated prior to audit adjustments in the amount of $672,000," the report said on page 68. "Deposits were made to incorrect bank accounts and the monthly bank reconciliation process showed large unreconciled balances that were not further looked into."

Interim Eatonville CAO Marlin Daniels said his town reached out to Apopka since both share the same strong mayor form of government and attorney.

"We already have an interlocal agreement with them with 911 and all that," Daniels said in a phone interview.

Daniels said the purpose of the open forum meeting was not to go indepth on the auditor general's findings, but instead "to look at systems and processes and how we can improve."

"Right now, we're in the fact-finding — we're collecting information, reaching out to experts [and] other people — and we're getting ideas in all of these departments," Daniels

In a separate interview, Nelson said the team from Eatonville wanted advisement on ordinances, utility back billing, grant applications and more.

"They're looking to do some kind of a community center, so they wanted to see how we did that," Nelson said. "So we helped them with that, and then additional forms that they wanted and procedures that we enact. It was a real good meeting."

Eatonville lies within the Orange County Commission's second district, which Nelson represented from 2014 to 2018, when he stepped down to serve as mayor in Apopka.

Nelson said the partnership will last as long as it needs to.

"There's no reason to reinvent the wheel if somebody's already got the wheel figured out," Nelson said. "We always have an open door, and we're willing to help where we can and help every city be more successful. I think that should always be our role and our goals."

Daniels hopes to have similar meetings and events with other municipalities. He also plans to create a timeline of Eatonville's transformation within the next one or two months.

"We're grateful for Mayor Nelson and his leadership team for their openness and support of the historic town of Eatonville," Daniels said. "We'll just keep communicating simple, practical and resultoriented things to move the town of Eatonville forward in our collaboration efforts."

According to Tarcha Rentz, UPI director of sustainability at UCF, community schools receiving the UPI grant are usually Title I feeder schools for UCF and its three UPI university partners — Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University (FAMU), Florida International University and the University of South Florida.

Rentz said UCF oversees two kinds of community schools: community partnership schools and UACS schools like Wekiva. Orange County's only other UACS school is Colonial High School in east Orlando.

"The first community partnership school in Orange County and in the state is Evans High School — it's considered the flagship," Rentz said in an interview. "It started this journey a little over 14 years ago."

UCF calls community partnership schools "enhancement sites," since these were already community schools before UCF's involvement. OCPS currently flicts with students. UCF is also working on providing internships at UPI schools for students pursuing bachelor's and master's degrees in social work.

"We know those are high-need schools, and the students at the schools could use some counseling," Cervantes said.

Rentz also said UCF may place work study students at Wekiva next semester. An initiative led by UCF clinical associate professor of physical therapy Jennifer Tucker may also arrive at Wekiva in the near future.

"One of our faculty members is actually preparing to bring in one of her programs called Go Baby Go!, where students will learn how to wire cars for children with disabilities, to be able to make those cars accessible and useful for young children to be able to just have some normalcy in their lives," Rentz said.

Amid all the features of the school's new designation, Wekiva principal Anthony Russell said it boils down to helping students who struggle with basic needs to thrive.

"This means the systematic removal of non-academic barriers, such as food insecurity or chronic social needs, that currently hinder learning," Russell said. "By addressing these foundational needs in partnership with the community, we free our students to focus entirely on academics, ultimately leading to improved attendance, greater family engagement, and significantly stronger educational outcomes, securing a more supported and brighter future for every Mustang."

Outing said that the community school concept is over 100 years old — but that time period was vastly different from today.

"If we lived in the same community, that means we go to the same grocery store, go to the same library, go to the same school," Outing said. "Now, we have globalization, and we have just the mere fact that students go off to college, and then sometimes, they don't come home."

Outing said community schools are about adding a system to what was once "organic."

"That is the beauty of the work," Outing said. "We're trying to fight against the things that have created the separation."

Outing believes the key to this "fight" is building relationships, which is part of what drew him to the role of community school director in the first place. And those relationships start with those between older, wiser adults and the student body.

"I get excited for anything that has to do with students receiving outside services and/or help with other adults who are pouring into them, not just academically — there's a component to that — but just who they are as a person," Outing said. "Numbers don't lie; they tend to be more successful. And I don't even mean 'successful' in a production standpoint of job and money earned, but just successful in their humanity, the type of person that they become."

Outing uses this more holistic vision as the foundation for the relationships he builds with potential community partners, as he believes it is crucial to the longevity of Wekiva's community school status.

"If you don't have the people that you work with willing to do the work of deconstructing the traditionalism that we've lived in for so long, then it won't matter," Outing said. "It'll be a nice, cool thing that will fade and become a fad. It won't be sustainable. And that's the goal — to try to create something that lives a lot longer than you."

ticipated. The outcome was that 185 votes favored increasing the multiplier over an alternative provision for early retirement based on years of service, according to Mega.

As a result of the proposed general employees' pension benefit increase, the city and employees will share the cost. The city will contribute $240,000, while employees chip in $82,500. Mega told the City Council that this would be prorated for this year, based on when the ordinance's second reading is adopted.

Commissioner Nadia Anderson said the increase was important for employee retention.

"Our employees work hard for the city," she said. "We appreciate what you guys do. We want to make sure that we actually retain good employees. So, I'm definitely in favor of the increase."

In two separate votes, the City Council unanimously approved the first reading of non-financial changes to the police and fire retirement systems.

The change was to update the required minimum distribution age from 77 to 73 to align with the SE-CURE2.0 Act, a federal law created to improve retirement savings by making changes to retirement plans.

According to Mega, the plan has been operating since 2023, but the amendment must be done by 2027.

No set date has been made for the second reading and adoption of all three amendment ordinances.

Police announce road closures for Apopka Christmas Parade

Parade is set for Dec. 13 on Park Avenue

Staff Reports

The Apopka Police Department (APD) has informed businesses in the city about road closures and detour routes for the Apopka Christmas Parade, which will take place 10 a.m.-noon on Saturday, Dec. 13, along Park Ave-

The Foliage Sertoma club organizes the Apopka Christmas Parade. Its theme this year is "Miracle on Park Avenue."

Road closures from 8 a. m. until 12 noon will be on Forest Avenue between Main Street and Third Street.

Road closures from 9 a. m. until noon will be on the following streets: Park Avenue between Main Street and Martin Street, Votaw Road between Park Avenue and Christiana Avenue, Third Street between Park Avenue and Forest Avenue, Second Street between Park Avenue and Highland Avenue, First Street between Park Avenue and Highland Avenue, Forest Avenue between Third Street and Oak Street, Orange Street between Park Avenue and Forest Avenue, Summit Street between Park Avenue/Central Avenue, and Central Avenue between Summit Street/Martin Street midblock of Central Avenue.

Santa Claus waves to the crowd from a fire engine in the 2024 Apopka Christmas Parade.

Uniformed officers from the Apopka Police Department will be posted at these locations for assistance if needed.

The times that the APD has listed are approximate and could be shorter or longer depending on the parade's duration.

Police will attempt to restore normal traffic flow as soon as practicable.

In a Monday email to the Chief, Foliage Sertoma Club parade chair Lorena Potter cautioned entrants about a new concrete traffic control island recently constructed at the Third Street/Park Avenue intersection, which may affect entrants' entry turns onto Park Avenue to start the parade route.

Volunteers will be on the premises to warn entrants and help them with this change, she said.

The Chief is participating in this year's parade lineup.

The parade grand marshal is former Orange County Commissioner Tom Dorman, an Apopka resident.

The parade judges are Carol Stein, a musician and creator of the Steinway Society of Central Florida, which gives piano lessons to underprivileged youth; Dr. Michael Armbruster, a retired teacher, coach and administrator for Orange County Public Schools; and Connie Gelner of Stanley Steemer, who leads the company's public involvement committee.

Blue Darters defense leads team to 47-38 victory

By Vinnie Cammarano Reporter

In the 15th annual Earl Graham Metro vs. Florida Challenge, the Apopka boys basketball team proved that even without a key starter, defense and discipline travel. Missing guard Zee Davis due to injury, the Blue Darters leaned on pressure defense and balanced scoring to pull out a 47–38 win over Davenport on Saturday afternoon.

Apopka fell behind 5–0 as its offense stalled for the first six minutes. Finally, Jarquavion McClain broke the drought with a midrange jumper, sparking some rhythm against a Davenport team clinging to the free-throw line. McClain used a strong finish to pull Apopka within a point, and the momentum finally swung in the closing seconds of the quar-

With Apopka's defense going into a tighter press, Rafi Betancourt jumped a passing lane and finished in transition. Seconds later, another pressured pass floated into the hands of Xavier Bell, who pushed ahead to Betancourt for a pull-up three that beat the buzzer and stole the quarter, giving Apopka an 11–9 edge at the first break.

The Blue Darters carried the momentum into the second. Off the bench, Jaden Andino fought for an offensive rebound and kicked out to Trent Jean for a clean wing 3. Jean followed with a smooth hop-step finish on the next trip, then he whipped a pass to Jacques Evariste for another 3, building a 19–13 lead Davenport countered with its own full-court press, but Apopka's ball movement cracked it. Multiple quick passes led to open looks, including a deep 3 from Betancourt to extend the lead to nine

Wekiva boys go down in overtime thriller against Timber Creek

Game stays within two possessions from start to finish

By Vinnie Cammarano Reporter

The Wekiva boys basket-ball team's undefeated start came to a dramatic end Monday night, as Timber Creek escaped Mustang Arena with a 73–71 overtime win in a back-and-forth thriller that never saw either team lead by more than two possessions.

From the opening tip, the pace was frantic, and the momentum swung on every trip down the floor. Timber Creek struck first with an and-one, but Wekiva's Louvens Saint-Pierre immediately answered with one of his own, then added an elbow jumper to take an early 8–7 lead.

Jasen Francillon provided a spark inside with four straight points to break an 11–11 tie, but the Wolves responded by busting Wekiva's press for a wing 3 and a strong finish at the rim. Off the bench, Kaiden Jean-Louis buried a catch-and-shoot 3 from a Saint-Pierre assist, but Timber Creek's Ethan Espinal finished the quarter with back-to-back contested 3s, giving the Wolves a 22–18 lead after a high-tempo first eight minutes.

The second quarter slowed dramatically. Two minutes passed before Wekiva scored on a baseline cut by Jean-Louis off a feed from Kenny Diejuste. Khai

Blue Darters dominate Evans, get it in return against Ocoee

By Vinnie Cammarano Reporter

The Apopka girls basketball team (1-3) entered the Metro West Conference Tournament after dropping its first two games to tough competition in Leesburg and Colonial.

In the first game of the tournament, Apopka was clicking on all cylinders against the Evans Trojans (0-3). The Blue Darter defense was the fuel, causing a ton of turnovers and not letting the Trojans score double digits in any quarter. They dominated from start to finish, 47-22.

Mikayla Wiggins gave an outstanding performance. She finished with 21 points, six rebounds, and three steals. Abigail Henry added seven points while dominating on the glass with 12 rebounds. Elyse Pringle had the claw on defense, swiping six steals out of Apopka's 19 total.

The script flipped just one night later against the Ocoee Knights. The Blue Darters were without their head coach, Brittany Hardy, and struggled tremendously, losing 62-15. They were unable to score in the first quarter en route to a season-low score of 15 for the game.

The Ocoee depth and energy visibly outmatched the Blue Darters. Eleven different Knights scored, and only Gabriella Fortius reached double digits in scoring, proving how much Ocoee spread the wealth.

After losing game two of the Metro West tournament, the Blue Darters dropped to the consolation bracket. They were scheduled to play a third game Thursday night after press time.

Vazquez is drilling three important traits into his wrestlers to get back to the top of their division.

"Consistency, discipline, focus," he said.
"Consistency, discipline, focus is what brought us the title last year, and we're gonna see what happens with this group. But I feel good about the way they're wrestling and practicing right now."

The coaches are amped for their 215-pound captain, Elijah Jean, to excel past what he's already accomplished. Jean is also hyped for the season, with his sights set on his best showing.

"I want to go undefeated." Jean said "This season I want to win it all. I don't care about revenge. Going undefeated and pinning every opponent I go against this season is all I want."

After wrestling varsity for the past three years, Jean is excited to go up against both the new and old foes his weight class has to offer.

Last season he was first team all-Metro, an overall Metro silver medalist, district bronze medalist, and earned medals in other important tournaments throughout the year. He is the seventh ranked 215-pounder in the state of Florida.

Senior co-captain Jeremiah Demosthene wrestles at 113 pounds. Last season, he earned all-team honors as the Metro West champion in his class. He said he just wants to work harder after falling short in the overall Metro Conference tournament.

"I definitely want to be Metro champ," he said. "I want to get a spot in regionals and qualify for states this year."

Senior Samuel

"My main goal right now is to win metros and make it to the state tournament for sure," he said.

Junior, Alina Quinde Rivera earned her stripes as the girls captain and is highly respected for her strong mentality and great wrestling ability. Coach Imbriani said she beat some of the boys around in practice last season and dominated in competition whenever she had the chance. She loves wrestling and is excited for the season ahead.

"I want to win as many matches as I possibly can." Rivera said. "I love the drive that wrestling brings me. What excites me is the fight in each match and seeing how much I work towards. Also, getting the win of course!"

Coach Vazquez emphasized the importance of both developing the young and inexperienced wrestlers on the roster, while also focusing on his top three senior captains'

Anglers report shiners bring in big bass

By the time the paper hits the stands, it will only be 20 days until Christmas! The older I get, the faster Christmas comes every year. I remember when I was growin' up, I thought Christmas would never get here, or it sure seemed like forever.

The weather has been great for fishin', and, yes! I did get on the water over the Thanksgivin' Holidays. I was able to fish with my soonto-be grandson-in-law. We fished the Harris Chain, but it was a slow day on the water for us. We only caught three bass, but I sure enjoyed just bein' on the water. The fishin' on the Harris Chain has been pretty good for most folks, it just happened to be a slow day

Kyle at Bitter's B&T reports that folks are startin' to catch some specks in the Harris Chain. Most folks are trollin' with jigs tipped with a minner. The best lake to catch a mess of specks in has been Folks are catchin' some specks in Lake Monroe and Lake Jesup, as well. Most folks are trollin' with jigs tipped with a minner. The hot spot for specks has been up near Highbanks Marina and in Lake Woodruff up on the St. Johns River. Folks are trollin' for specks and catchin'em on jigs tipped with a minner.

Kyle fished Johns Lake on Monday of this week. He reports that he caught 12 specks and 10 bass. Congrats, Kyle. Sounds like a good day on the water.

The Wednesday Night Shootout on Johns Lake will be holdin' their championship on Johns Lake this weekend, Saturday, Dec. 6. So, if you're plannin' a trip to Johns Lake, I would go durin' the week.

The bass fishin' on Lake Fairview is still producin' some nice stringers of bass. The Wednesday night tournament on Lake Fairview is takin' about 15 to 16 pounds to win. You're only allowed to weigh-in three bass, so those are some good weights for three bass.

The bass fishin' on West Lake Toho is doin' good right now. Most of the bass are bein' caught on shiners. Many of the guide trips are catchin 20 to 30 bass per trip. Most of those bass are bein' caught around the submerged hydrilla beds.

The specks are bitin' pretty good in Lake Kissimmee these past couple of weeks. Folks are driftin' with minners and jigs tipped with a minner. You can also catch some specks just off the grassline with minners.

The bass fishin' on the Headwaters Lake is doin' real good. I'm gettin' plenty of reports that folks are catchin' some very nice bass on shiners. You can catch some bass on artificials, too. If you don't want to use shiners, you can try fishin' a chatter-bait or a spinner-bait. Also try fishin' a swim-jig in certain areas of

We had a full moon this week on Thursday, Dec. 4. The fishin' should be really good this week and into the weekend. The weather could factor into your time on the water. ## MUSTANGS BASKETBALL

The third quarter also started slowly, with neither team scoring a field goal until Timber Creek broke through at the sixminute mark. Wekiya stayed afloat at the line until Darion Thomas buried a 3, giving the Mustangs their first basket three minutes into the period. Nichols later tied it 43-43 with a deep leftwing 3, then hit another moments later after Francillon muscled in an andone opportunity. But once again, the Wolves stole the final moment. Timber Creek's Noah Taylor launched and hit a heave from the opposite 3-point line to steal the quarter up 49–48.

Saint-Pierre opened the fourth with a wing 3. and Nichols continued his hot shooting with two more triples, pushing Wekiva ahead 62–58 with two minutes left. Espinal, who poured in 29 points, traded big shots with Nichols down the stretch.

With 30 seconds remaining, Taylor hit a heavily contested corner three to make it 64–63. After Wekiva split at the line, Espinal raced up court and drilled a deep tying 3 with 18 seconds to go. Saint-Pierre was fouled with three seconds left but missed both free throws, and Francillon's putback rimmed out, sending the game to over-

Apopka girls soccer edges Olympia in dramatic finish

Jillian Kurz gives Apopka 3-2 win at buzzer

By Vinnie Cammarano Reporter

Apopka sophomore Jillian Kurz buried the gamewinner with eight seconds left as the Blue Darters stunned Olympia 3-2 on the road Wednesday night, capping one of their most thrilling performances of the sea-

After a scoreless first half in which Apopka controlled possession but managed only three shots on goal, head coach Tino Sangster urged cleaner decisions in the attacking third. The message landed immediately. Just 1:40 into the second half, sophomore Navaeh Nguyen capitalized on a rebound and fired a shot into the open right side of the net for a 1–0 lead.

Olympia responded a minute later with a top-corner strike to even the match, and momentum shifted into a back-and-forth stretch as both sides found space in transition. The Titans broke the tie 11 minutes into the half, after a turnover in the neutral zone led to a nearpost finish. resilience Apopka's took over from there. With just under 20 minutes left, Robyn Pickard created her own moment, tracking down a deflected pass and ripping a high shot over the goalkeeper to tie the match at 2.

The Blue Darters pushed hard in the closing minutes, generating repeated chances for Nguyen and Pickard. Their pressure finally cracked the Titans' back line. A late pass forward deflected off an Olympia defender and rolled to Kurz in stride. The junior blasted a shot from the right side of the box with eight seconds left, delivering Apopka its most emotional win of the young season.

"They show resilience, they show grit, and I'm super excited for them," Sangster said. "The biggest thing I see so far is the willingness to learn."

Sangster praised the team's dominance in the final third and credited second-half adjustments, including moving Pickard up top and shifting Kurz between two positions.

"The players are so versatile," he said. "If something isn't working, we always have something extra — another rotation, another switch. The girls definitely step up when they need

The win snapped a twomatch skid in district play. Apopka had been shut out 6-0 by West Orange and fell 4–1 to Lake Brantley after trailing only 2–1 at halftime.

Before that stretch, the Blue Darters put together their strongest offensive showing of the season with an 8–0 mercy-rule win over Freedom on Nov. 17. Nguyen recorded a hat trick, Kurz added two, while Ariana Obregon, Addison Kramer and Ava Croeze each scored. Pickard finished with two assists.

"We've been making sure everyone understands their roles," he said. "It's looking good so far. We just have to keep building."

Apopka (3-3) returns home for the first time this season, Friday at 7:30 p.m. to host Windermere.

success.

"We have a lot of guys with no experience, so we want them to learn the sport and earn some success, especially towards the end of the season." Vazquez said. "The main focus is to get our top three seniors to state and get them to place as high as they can."

Vazquez circled the FH-SAA District Duels on Jan. 10. and the Metro Tournament on Feb. 2 as the highlight events for his team that he wants to do well in. Their first action will take place in the Golden Triangle Tournament on Saturday, Dec. 13, in Mount Dora.

BLUE DARTERS WIN

FROM B1

After the Broncos trimmed it to five in the closing seconds, Apopka again executed a quick offense, swinging the ball around the arc to find Bell open for a wing 3 that sent the Blue Darters to halftime leading 27-19.

The Broncos opened the third quarter with a layup, a transition dunk and four straight second-chance points, completing an 8-0 run to tie the game. Betancourt briefly halted the surge with a floater, but Davenport continued attacking inside, eventually taking a 31-29

Jean set up Bell for his second 3, igniting another Apopka response. After some back-and-forth scoring, Jean found Evariste again for his second corner triple, giving Apopka a 37-33 lead heading into the fourth.

McClain opened the final quarter with a crafty finish high off the glass, which pushed the lead back to five. Shortly after, Betancourt nailed a pair of free throws, something Davenport struggled with all game. The Broncos shot just 10for-28 from the free-throw line, leaving points scattered across the floor.

Needing more separation, Apopka ramped up its pressure again. Noah Ferrer jumped a pass, sprinted the length of the court and scored to make it an eightpoint game with under five minutes left. From there, the Blue Darters bled clock with long possessions, forcing Davenport to chase.

Bell closed the afternoon with a free throw and a late layup, cementing both the win and his selection as the Earl Graham Player of the Game. The Apopka guard came off the bench and finished with 9 points, 3 rebounds and multiple forced turnovers in a do-it-all performance.

Betancourt led Apopka with 12 points, while Jean added 7 points and 7 assists.

On Tuesday, Apopka hit the road to Edgewater and ran into a buzzsaw. The Eagles (5-0) kept their record unblemished with a 62-43 win. They were able to break through against an Apopka defense that hadn't given up 50 points yet this season.

Apopka (3-2) was slated to face Evans (4-1) on Thursday night after press time.

The backyard spread: smoked brisket, roasted sides, and easy biscuits

From the web-Heygrillhey.com, we have instructions that will enable you to prepare Texas Style Smoked Beef Brisket with that authentic Texas taste - right in your own backyard! Susie Buloch and her husband Todd own a family business that sells BBQ paraphernalia, and Susie founded Hey Grill Hey in 2015, with the sole desire to help people make better BBQ! When she's not grilling, she's hanging out with Todd and their three kids, preferably outdoors! She says, "Texas Style Smoked Beef Brisket is more than a simple recipe, it's a process for melt in your mouth smoked brisket! All you need is salt, pepper, smoke, and time, and you're on your way to eating the best beef brisket of your life."

Ree Drummond of ThePioneerWoman. com website says, "There's a reason why potatoes are found in cuisines around the world. They may just be one of the most versatile foods out there... you can mash 'em, smash 'em, fry 'em or roast 'em. You can use whatever herbs (fresh or dried) or spices you have on hand to make a different side dish every time you turn on your oven. The possibilities are endless. One of the key things to keep in mind when roasting potatoes is that you don't want to crowd the pan. Use a large baking sheet and leave a little room around each chunk to let the heat circulate and allow the potatoes to really crisp up. And don't forget to toss them in oil for an optimal golden hue and sprinkle with salt along with your other seasonings. Potatoes are basically a sponge for flavor."

Copycat Red Lobster biscuits are loaded with Cheddar cheese and brushed with seasoned butter in this easy copycat recipe. No kneading is required — just drop the gently mixed dough directly onto a prepared baking sheet and your warm, freshly baked, bitesized biscuits will be ready to enjoy with dinner in 15 minutes. The Allrecipes Test Kitchen staff is a team of culinary pros who make and vet recipes using only equipment you'd find in a home kitchen. Staff credentials vary but include training at the Culinary Institute of America; kitchen stints in fine dining restaurants; and countless hours in the test kitchen itself. Making copycat Red Lobster biscuits from scratch is actually quite easy. You'll find the full recipe below.

From Robyn Stone of AddAPinch, we have a list of vegetables and their preparation along with grilling times. This is ideal for the grill-master who needs a little instruction on how to prepare and cook vegetables on the grill. You'll need to drizzle your vegetables with EVOO (extra virgin olive oil) and season them with salt, pepper, and garlic powder... unless you hate garlic. You can easily marinate them in a bowl. Of course, you probably won't want garlic on the corn; corn is a food that is so good by itself, that it needs NO added seasoning except a little salt and EVOO to keep it moist! You can also put oiled and seasoned Brussels sprouts on a skewer; it will take around 10 minutes, flipping it halfway through. In a foil pack, Brussels sprouts will take about 20 minutes; fingerling or chunk potatoes in a foil pack will take around 20 to 25 minutes to cook.

TEXAS STYLE SMOKED BEEF BRISKET

From HeyGrillHey.com / Susie Bulloch

EQUIPMENT: 1 smoker Chef's knife

Butcher paper Large cutting board INGREDIENTS:

1 each 12-14 pound whole packer brisket 2 tablespoons coarse Kosher salt

2 tablespoons coarse black pepper 2 tablespoons garlic powder (optional) INSTRUCTIONS:

1) Prepare and trim the brisket: Store your brisket in the refrigerator until you are ready to start trimming. Cold briskets are much easier to work with. Flip your brisket over so the point end is underneath. Remove any silver skin or excess fat from the flat muscle. Trim down the large crescent moon shaped fat section until it is a smooth transition between the point and the flat. Trim any excess or loose meat and fat from the point. Square the edges and ends of the flat. Flip the brisket over and trim the top fat cap to about 1/4 of an inch thickness across the surface of the brisket. 2) Season the brisket: In a mixing bowl or empty spice container, mix the salt, pepper, and garlic. Check over the brisket and evenly distribute the spices on all sides. 3) Smoke the brisket: Preheat your smoker to 225 degrees F using indirect heat and hardwood smoke. Place the brisket on the smoker with the point end facing your main heat source. This is a thicker part of the brisket and it can handle the additional heat. Close the lid and smoke until an internal meat thermometer reads 165 degrees F (usually takes around 8 hours). 4) Wrap the brisket: On a large work surface, roll out a big piece of butcher paper (or foil) and center your brisket in the middle. Wrap the brisket by folding edge over edge, creating a leak proof seal all the way around. Return the wrapped brisket to the smoker, seam side down so the weight from the brisket crimps the edges of the paper wrap down tight. 5) Smoke the brisket again: Close the lid on the smoker and, maintaining 225 degrees F, continue cooking until the internal temperature of the brisket reaches 202 degrees F in the thickest part of the meat (takes anywhere from 5-8 hours). 6) Rest the brisket, then slice and serve: Remove the brisket to a large cutting board and allow to rest for 1 hour before slicing. Slice both the point and the flat against the grain with a sharp knife and serve immediately.

COPYCAT RED LOBSTER CHEDDAR BISCUITS

Submitted by cookingmaniac

INGREDIENTS:

2 cups all-purpose flour

1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

1 tablespoon baking powder 1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon garlic powder

2/3 cup milk

1/3 cup butter, softened and cut into pieces

1 large egg

Butter topping:

2 tablespoons butter, melted

2 teaspoons dried parsley (Optional) 1 teaspoon garlic powder (Optional)

MAKING THE DOUGH:

In one bowl, combine the dry ingredients. In another bowl, combine the wet ingredients. Then add the dry ingredients to the wet ingredients and lightly mix. The mixture is meant to be chunky, so be careful not to overmix. Drop the dough onto a baking sheet and bake for 10 minutes.

MAKING THE BUTTER TOPPING:

Melt the butter and stir in garlic powder and parsley (if you're using it). Then brush the butter topping onto each biscuit. Bake for another 5 minutes, until the biscuits are golden brown. Original recipe yields 12 servings.

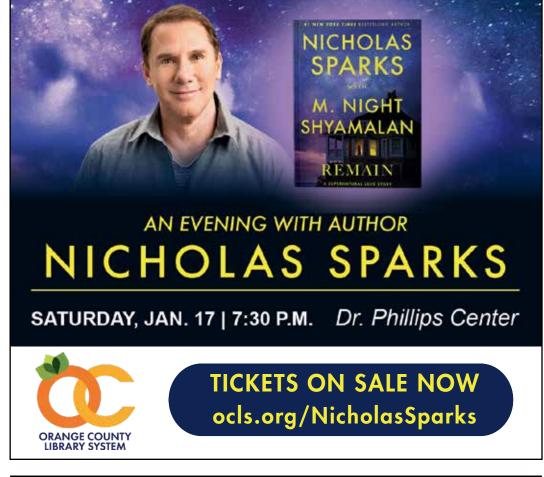

All-purpose flour will work best for these biscuits. A cup of shredded Cheddar is the key to making the biscuits extra flavorful and cheesy. Milk will moisten the dough. The egg will bind your ingredients together. Butter goes into the dough, and it is also the main ingredient in the topping. Baking powder will help the dough rise without yeast. This recipe calls for salt and garlic powder in the dough plus optional garlic powder and parsley in the butter topping.

LIST OF GRILLED VEGETABLES

From Robyn Stone of AddAPinch Approximate grill times at medium to high heat:

- Asparagus, whole spears, 4 to 8
- Bell Peppers, halved or quartered, 8 to 10 minutes
- Corn, in or out of husk, 15 to 20 min-
- Eggplant, 1/2-inch slices, 5 to 7 min-
- Mushrooms (Portobello), whole, 8 to 10 minutes, flip halfway through
- Onion, thick rounds or wedges, 8 to 10 minutes, flip halfway through
- Zucchini and yellow squash, 1/2inch slices or strips, 5 to 8 minutes, flip halfway through.
